A Somerset Day Begins With . . .

An integral part of a Somerset day is the before school session. Along the walkways and corridors are the students, alone or in groups, hurrying and strolling, peopling the school in every way. Busses are emptying, lockers are slamming and all over, the school is alive. Across the way the cafeteria is buzzing with students, some discussing a homework assignment or last night's game, some seated for a few moments to review for an upcoming class, some eating a quick breakfast, and others just having a friendly bull session.

Near the office, the students are mobbing the secretarial desk for absentees' class admission slips, while others pause to read current posters and notices along the corridor bulletin boards. Then, as the 7:50 bell rings, the corridors are quickly emptied and all that remains is the sound of an occasional passing footstep.

A Somerset Day Consists of . . .

When morning classes begin, the mood at Somerset takes on more scholastic overtones. In 415, students watch intently as their Biology teacher traces on the blackboard a detailed structure of an animal cell. In the language lab, a recording of a native Parisian, rapidly reciting the dialog of Unit 10 is being played. The women's liberation movement is the topic of an animated discussion in the Social Studies area. Finally, as our little tour comes to a close, a small group of art students are undertaking a new challenge of still life. This swift journey has caught all that goes on. One might well point to classes in Chemistry, Physical Education, and Math, or even to the offices of the guidance counselors, where individual conferences are going on.

A Somerset Day Ends With . . .

The end of a school day at Somerset presents an entirely different scene. Classrooms are empty, buses are loading up, cars are leaving, but the day at SHS is far from over. The assorted squeaks and tootles of musical instruments pervade the music room as the Blue Raider Marching Band prepares to practice for its upcoming half-time show. From the playing fields, depending upon the season, comes the sharp, shrill sound of an umpire's whistle, the clean crack of a bat, the fat thud of a punt, the muffled groans of players, and the intent cries of onlookers. Still elsewhere, a faculty meeting is being held and the Breeze staff is busily gathering and writing news. Finally, as the day falls into darkness, and the fields and rooms are lifeless, a Somerset day is over.

When you are old and gray and full of sleep,
And nodding by the fire, take down
this book.
And slowly read, and dream of the soft look
Your eyes had once, and of their shadows deep;

How many loved your moments of
glad grace,
And loved your beauty with love
false or true;
But one man loved the pilgrim soul
in you,
And loved the sorrows of your changing face.

And bending down beside the glowing bars,
Murmur, a little sadly, how Love
fled
And paced upon the mountains overhead
And hid his face amid a crowd of stars.

W. B. Yeats

The 1971 Man

It is with great pride in a faithful teacher that we dedicate this yearbook to Mr. Harvey Alden, English teacher. Those who have been a part of his classes will never forget his perseverance and willingness to teach even those who take school less seriously than they should. He is a systematic educator. We are thankful for the way in which he apportions his time so that a maximum of drilling in all the essentials of learning English takes place. His capacity as an English teacher does not end in the classroom, for he is equally efficient in preparing transcripts and student character summaries for those going on to higher education.

During his few leisure hours away from Somerset High, he avidly follows the stocks as a licensed broker, and once in a while he manages to get in some fishing. But whether he be teaching, following the stocks, or fishing, "The 1971 Man" performs all with the same steady gentleness, perseverance, and dedication that has endeared him to all who know him.

A Functioning Faculty

When it is time for classes to begin and the knots of students have unraveled, the men and women of the Somerset High faculty take charge. A variety of personalities exist, each involved in his own field, each with his own style of teaching, yet there is one very strong similarity; each likes to see ideas lodge, take root, and flourish in the students' minds. This is the faculty.

Somewhere

Somewhere there is a place for me.
Perhaps across some mighty sea.
In years ahead, I won't know where I'll be.
Perhaps I'll travel
the world care free!

In the days ahead
which are long and far,
My pride I will
try not to mar.
People pressure me for
answers but I have none.
Only way left is to follow the sun.

I'll follow it till
I see down.
Then I will look around and everyone will be gone.
This might give me the
answers of life,
For I cannot find them on the end of a knife.

It stands to reason, life cannot last forever.
And all your lines of reality
you cannot sever.
Don't cop out on things
you disapprove of
Just because the answers lie ABOVE!

Someday I will find this place of mine.
There everyone will be happy.
The sun will shine.
So now I file
my final plea
For there must be a somewhere for me!

Field Hockey

Take 26 girls, 26 sticks, one ball and two goals — put them together for practice every school day from 3 to 5 and what you have is a field hockey team.

The 1970 Girls Field Hockey team was a combination of high spirits, competitive skills and the finest defense in the Bristol County Girls League. For this team, the most important game of the season was played against Westport. Both teams played an excellent game; however, when the dust had cleared, Somerset was the loser by one goal.

Captained by seniors Bonny Marchand and Kathy Johnston, Miss Fitzgerald's team, in an eight game series, tied Westport for second place. They closed out the season with a 3-4-1 record.

Cross Country

The Cross-Country team finished the best season of its brief six-year history this year. The "Big Blue Machine" went undefeated in Narry Competition.

In late October, the team entered the state meet in Boston, where the Raiders finished second in their class.

The team's top men — Lusier, Pyatt, Gartner, Griffo, and Mullen — placed in the Narry League's top ten. In fact, Lussier went undefeated in Narry competition. Much of the credit for this excellence should go to Mr. Bernardo, who has coached the team since its conception in 1965.

Football 1970

The Somerset High football Raiders finished their season with a fine record of 6-2-0 and finished 3-1-0 in league competition to share the title with Seekonk. The only setbacks were the season's opener with Dartmouth and the traditional Thanksgiving rival, Case. Like the past teams, the 1970 Raiders were small in size but quick.

Somerset had an excellent offensive line and an exceptionally quick back field. The offense, which was probably the best in the area, scored an average of 26 points a game. Somerset's defense was tough to score against; on the average, it held opponents to 10 points a game. In addition, the All-Narry Football Team was dominated with five Somerset players.

Case Rally

Just about everyone got in on the Case Rally scene in one way or another. Some worked hard and long to decorate the assigned corridors — all in hopes of scoring more points for the final judging. It had been two years since we had been able to compete in a Thanksgiving rally. Therefore, we were all looking forward to the usual slapstick comedy and drama that goes on in the widely decorated gym. The lucky winners of this year's competition were the juniors. Five stars to them for a job well done!

Thanksgiving

When the first half came to a close, Somerset was leading 28-12. Overconfident on returning to the field, the Raiders failed to score several times. With only six minutes left in the game, Case rallied and scored 20 more points to put them four points ahead of Somerset. They kept the four point lead and Somerset lost. It was a surprising defeat to the Raiders and their fans because Somerset entered the game with a 6-1 record whereas Case had a 0-8 record. We gave them their only win of the season. It was the biggest upset in area football games.

1970 JV's

The Somerset Junior Varsity Raiders finished the 1970 football season with 8 wins and no losses. It was Coach Souza's second consecutive undefeated season. The JV's have a streak of 18 consecutive victories over a two and one half year period. Captaining this winning team were Steve Curt and Barry Sullivan. They helped to gear the JV offense to a score average of 24 points a game while the defense only averaged 4 points against them.

Kennedy At SHS

Prior to election day, November third, Somerset High had a unique experience. We were able to see and listen to Senator Edward M. Kennedy, and shortly after, Republican hopeful, Josiah Spaulding.

Mr. Kennedy spoke briefly on such subjects as the draft, the welfare system, the voting age, and the marijuana problem. Within a few days, Mr. "Si" Spaulding came to Somerset High and we discovered that he had views similar to the Senator's on several issues.

In all, the students were appreciative for having had such an unusual opportunity during an election year for federal senators.

On December 5th, the Somerset High Jazz Band gave the first Jazz Concert of the year. One of the highlights was an explosive double drum solo of Walk Wild and Aquarius/Let the Sun Shine In which featured an infectious rhythm and brass section. Also featured at the concert were folk soloists and the Folk Group. An added innovation was the establishment of a coffeehouse in the breezeway where refreshments and pastries were served. The Jazz Band has since gone on tour to give exciting concerts at many schools throughout the New England area.

Junior Miss

One of the highlights of the fall season at Somerset was the Junior Miss Scholarship Pageant. Presented by the Somerset Jaycees on November 14, 1970, the contestants, all trying for the title of Somerset Junior Miss, represented Case, Dighton-Rehoboth, and Somerset High. To the theme of "Autumn Pageantry," each senior girl participated in a physical fitness routine, a talent presentation, and an evening gown competition before Master-of-Ceremonies Leonard Kaplan announced the five finalists. Somerset's first Junior Miss, Cassia Taylor, gave her farewell address and then each finalist was asked a question by "Low Price." The Miss Personality Award was presented to Miss Gail Kalil. She was picked by the contestants themselves in secret balloting just before the Pageant. Then came the announcement of the winners. Everyone sat up eagerly . . . hoping . . . praying . . . waiting . . . and finally . . . Second Runnerup: Karen Leonard of Somerset . . . First Runnerup: Debbie Ramos of Case . . . ## Vespers '70

Music conveys what words cannot — the joy, the sorrow, the beauty, the grace, the simplicity of life and all its pleasures. All one needs is excellent composers, good directors, dedicated musicians and singers, and a theme. All this was provided by the 1970 Vespers, directed by Bruce Maggs and Robert Perry.

In keeping with the spirit of the season and the hope that someday men will be able to reason among themselves, Brotherhood became the theme for Somerset High's Christmas Concert.

The program was a mixture of traditional Christmas melodies and more contemporary styles of music. Performing at the concert were various organizations from within the music department. These included the Concert Choir, the Madrigal Singers, the Girls Glee, the orchestra, the Folk Group, and the wind ensemble.

The 1970 Vespers proved that Man could at least share the enjoyment of the sound of music.

Hoopsters Challenge!

The opening win over Dartmouth was the prelude to a very exciting season for the Somerset hoopsters. Under the tutorage of Coach Ray McDonald, the Blue and White finished their hoop campaign with a most respectable fourteen and two record in Narry play; eighteen and two overall.

Outstanding for the Raiders this banner year were the all-around performances of senior tri-captains Denny Jew, Bill Barrar, and Ray Kowalski with important contributions being made to the team's playing by squad members Bruce Emmet and Drew Cummings. First of all, Jew was a vital cog in the wheel of fortune for the team as he displayed great playmaking, good defense and scoring ability. In addition, highest individual scoring honors went to Jew when he scored twenty-seven points in a single game. Speedster Barrar, unrelenting Kowalski, rebounding Cummings, and fast-running Emmet sparked us to many a victory.

Highlighting the season for the varsity five were the victories over Connolly and Case, but perhaps the most enjoyed victory was the finale over Holy Family. The class of 1971 will long remember this exciting basketball team and the Narry Coach of the Year, Ray McDonald.

Donkey Basketball

What some of us won't do to raise funds for scholarships! Never thought we would see the day that teachers and students would engage in sporting combat astride real donkeys. This time the ups and downs of basketball involved tugging, pushing, shoving, stealing, and practically anything else you can name that really isn't expected in a basketball game. But we all thought the night was one of the greatest this year because all were such great sports especially the donkeys!

Girls Varsity Basketball

Give a girl a basketball, point her approximately in the direction of the net, and then don't bet on her missing, especially if she is a member of the 1971 varsity team at Somerset. A potpourri of spirit, skill, enthusiasm, and potential, the squad finished the season with a 7-5 record.

This year, for the first time, five man basketball was initiated. It presented a switch for the team to get accustomed to since in the past girls' basketball always had six players. But with concentration and long practice sessions, the Somerset girls went on to defeat such teams as Stang, Bishop Cassidy, and Westport.

This year's team, co-captained by Brenda Lussier and Mary Mahoney with coaching by Miss Sheila Fitzgerald, went on to provide the sports fans with some exciting games on the court.

This year for the first time, the girls' gymnastics team went into competition. The girls prepared for four months on such gymnastic events as floor exercises, balance beam, uneven parallel bars and vaulting.

Competition was held in March against 6 schools from the Bristol County Girls' League. In individual events, Somerset placed first, second, and third in floor exercises, first and second in uneven parallel bars, and first in balance beam. As a result, Somerset's female gymnasts placed first for team average at the meet.

Gymnastics

This year's gymnastics season marked the team's second year of performing on an interscholastic basis, but gymnastics still has not become a varsity sport. This year's squad did perform better, however, than the previous year's, capturing a two win-four loss record compared to the 0-3 record of the 1969-1970 season. The opportunity for more experience arose because the number of meets was doubled. The high schools of Portsmouth Abbey, Bridgewater, and Medway were all met twice. A gymnastics demonstration given at the High School was the culmination of the season.

This year, Mr. Estes gave up his coaching position to Mr. Horton, a graduate of Springfield, who did a remarkable job in supporting the team and in getting it to perform well.

Volleyball

Co-captained by Kathy Johnston and Bonnie Marchand, the 1971 Volleyball Team was very united and also quite successful in its efforts.

This year the stress in league volleyball was to use a great deal of power. By using this "power volleyball" strategy, the girls were playing with more emphasis on team efforts than on individualized tactics.

Performance in competition was excellent due to a very high potential coupled with enthusiastic team effort all the way.

Under the Co-captainship of Jean Lackey and Bonnie Marchand, the 1971 girls softball team played a very busy schedule this season. Opposite previous years when only six games were played, this year there was a total of twelve.

Although their season was not a very successful one in games won, the team experienced and displayed tremendous spirit and effort in every way. Most of the victories came at the end of the season. Coach Goodwin noted that this "shows improvement and promise" for a very successful season next year for many will be veteran players then.

Track '71

Somerset Track again had a winning year under the guidance of Coaches Lane and McDonald. The Raiders of Somerset and the Warriors of Seekonk tied for the Narry League Crown with the Falcons of Dighton-Rehoboth posing a major threat to the Co-champs.

Unfortunately, however, the 1971 trackmen lacked the depth of previous years and were edged out of repeating as both the Narry Relay Champs and the Narry Meet Champs.

Their Narry League record of 5-1 and overall record of 6-4 is not indicative of their successful season. Co-captained by Richard Pyatt and Bruce Castonguay, the team represented Somerset in many invitational and state meets.

This year's team had the finest distance squad yet seen at Somerset High. Among the standouts were Captain Pyatt, Kevin Gartner, Ed Lussier, Paul Griffo, and Randy Osga. These boys took many state and regional honors which were highlighted by their record performance in capturing the New England Division II four-mile relay championship. Next year should prove another exciting track season for fans and players alike.

Coach Paul Coreoran guided the Raiders to another highly successful season as the Raiders finished third in the Bristol County Inter-scholastic Golf League with a fine record of 9 wins and 4 losses. Only the powerful New Bedford and Stang squads finished ahead of Somerset.

They started off slowly as they split their first six matches, but then they settled down to win six matches in a row, climaxing with a crushing 7-2 victory over Stang at Suspiro's Country Club in Somerset. Most of the team will return again next year as veteran players. This means a very victorious squad of swingers for the greens.

The year 1971 was expected to be a rebuilding year for baseball at Somerset High. This prognosis was partly correct as the Raiders came in second in the Narry League this year. However, Somerset proved its ability on the diamond by defeating the Seekonk champions twice during the regular season and in the Eastern Massachusetts Baseball Tournament.

Captain of this year's squad was Steve Kineavy, worthy of the honor, for he displayed fine leadership and produced many timely hits during the course of the season. Once again, head coach of this team was Jim Sullivan who has inspired and capably led many S.H.S. athletes through the years. His able assistants were Bob Souza, J.V. head, and Ted Porada who coaches on the baselines.

The 1971 class of Somerset hopes continued success will favor the upcoming athletes and their dedicated coaches.

Theater

After weeks of rehearsal, the ORBIT presentation of "George Washington Slept Here" opened on the evening of April 30, 1971. Directed by Mrs. Steven Miller and Mr. Raymond Peloquin, the play allowed an enthusiastic collection of young people to experience the much loved expression of emotion through acting. The lights, the makeup, the music, the refreshments and the other wonderful things that make up an evening of theater clicked magically for everyone who contributed to the success of this play the moment the curtain went up and the first words of dialogue were spoken.

On the evening of June 10, 1971, The Coachmen restaurant was the scene of the Senior Class Banquet for the class of 1971. After Richard Tetreault greeted the senior class and its guests, Mr. Pontes announced the dedication to "The 1971 Man," Mr. Harvey Alden, English teacher. It was a very surprised Mr. Alden who acknowledged gratefully and happily the honor paid him.

Once dinner was over, the entertainment began. Perhaps the most arresting part of this was the reading of the Class Will because there were so many unexpected humorous declarations made throughout. The evening closed with the singing of the Alma Mater and all went off to a happy evening.

Prom Night

This year's prom was the first to be held away from Somerset and it proved a tremendous success. The banquet meal at the beginning of the evening could not have been better. The weather was just wonderful. The music was just right, and everyone looked unbelievably chic!

Perhaps one of the most interesting events was the selection of the Queen of the Prom. To Kathy Roy went the honors.

Graduation

On June 17, 1971, the traditional graduation was held in the Somerset High School gymnasium to the tune of "Pomp and Circumstance" as the Seniors filed in wearing their caps and gowns. They were led by junior class president, Louise Learned. The always awaited "Lord's Prayer" and the "Alma Mater" were sung by the seniors. This year the honors of speaking to the seniors and the guest audience were shared by Lawrence Rutkowski (Today's Youth — A Perspective) and Diane Billington (The Road Not Taken). Just before diplomas were distributed, awards and scholarships were given and announced by Principal Carl McDermott. Then to the "March of the Graduates" the graduated seniors happily filed out.

THE GRASS

The grass is getting tall it seems,
In the valley of my dreams.
So all people can hide behind,
In the canyon of my mind.

Run and catch the whip-poor-will,
Though it stands very still.
For you can see through painted skies
All the truths and blatant lies.

In this valley you will find
The calmest peace of any kind.
Let's take a trip through this land!
Come with me! Take my hand!

Here with me you will not be alone.
And all your seeds will have been sown.
Come with me! I'll give you a lease;
So that you and I will have final peace.

ILLUSION

In the shadows of the pine grove,
I see her face once more,
Peeking out from behind the bushes,
Like the girl whom I adore.
Her eyes with their little twinkle,
How they always blow my mind.
And her hair such a blackened brilliance;
I know that she's my kind.

The many times she's made me happy,
I can never say.
What I know is that I need that girl,
Forever and a day.
But this will never happen for me,
Because she really isn't there.
So all my hopes and reaching dreams,
Just go drifting on in the air!

MY WHEATIES

I eat my wheaties every day,
Just before I go to play.
So I can grow up hard as a rock,
And go beat up all the kids on my block.

I know that's not the way to feel,
When I eat my breakfast meal.
But it's really right you see,
Cause they're always beatin' on me!

A DREAM

Dedicated to all daydreamers and Oldsmobiles.
Wake up! Wake up! It's not too late.
You CAN forget her, but not by hate.
Close your eyes; think nice thoughts.
Open your eyes; see your caughts.

Look into people's minds! See how fake they are.
Now jump! Jump high! Reach for a star!
I've caught my star. Look! The color of white cream.
Now I've awakened, I realize it was all a dream.

Ah, William Shakespeare, "what fools
These mortals be!!!"

THE SPIDER

I stare at the spider on the wall.
Doesn't he have any sense at all?
Up and down the wall each day.
Always work, and never play.

Weaving his web ever so fine,
While in the darkness Slender threads with shine.
Weaving and sewing. Spin! Turn!
Won't that spider ever learn?

Life is what he makes of it;
Making designs in his fine knit.
But he cannot go on like this.
Think of all the fun he does miss.

But today I seem him on the wall again,
And he has little spiders, almost ten.
So there is a moral to this poem. We can say:
Weave a web a day and you still have time to play.

PROM NIGHT

There's a warm summer breeze, whirling all around.
And its whisper through the trees is the only sound.
The people are gathering around the entrance door,
With flashbulbs and cameras, like so many times before.

You make last minute adjustments on your hair and dress.
Look in the rearview mirror and say, "I must look a mess."
But he tells you in his kindest way,
That you have never looked more beautiful than today.

Finally, he opens the door to call you on.
And you walk arm in arm through the June night's calm.
The cameras will be flashing as you both walk by;
Some people will be smiling while others will cry.

But you will be a heavenly body in a starlit sky,
And your gown's diamond brilliance will make others die.
And he in his tuxedo of black, white, or blue
Will make you proud; you will make him proud too.

Together you enter with heads up high.
And as they snap your picture, you try not to cry.
Then you think of all the friends you might not see.
If only you knew the future! If only you had the key!

Just think! Four years have gone by so fast!
Things that once were dear are now in the past.
But always remember the good things, never the bad.
Because good makes you happy; bad makes you sad.

Music plays softly as you glide along the floor.
Your arms hold someone you really adore.
Someone you needed and wanted all along,
To fill the lyrics and music of your song.

Time, it seems, is getting short for you now.
And the prom began as it was getting through.
But you know as I do your life has just begun,
Because after this night, you are a woman.

THE SHACK

I know a place where I can go.
Where troubles can not find me.
A place where no one has to put on a show,
And you can just be free.

It's not too big and it's not too small.
It seems just right.
Somewhere I can go to be alone,
And to think at night.

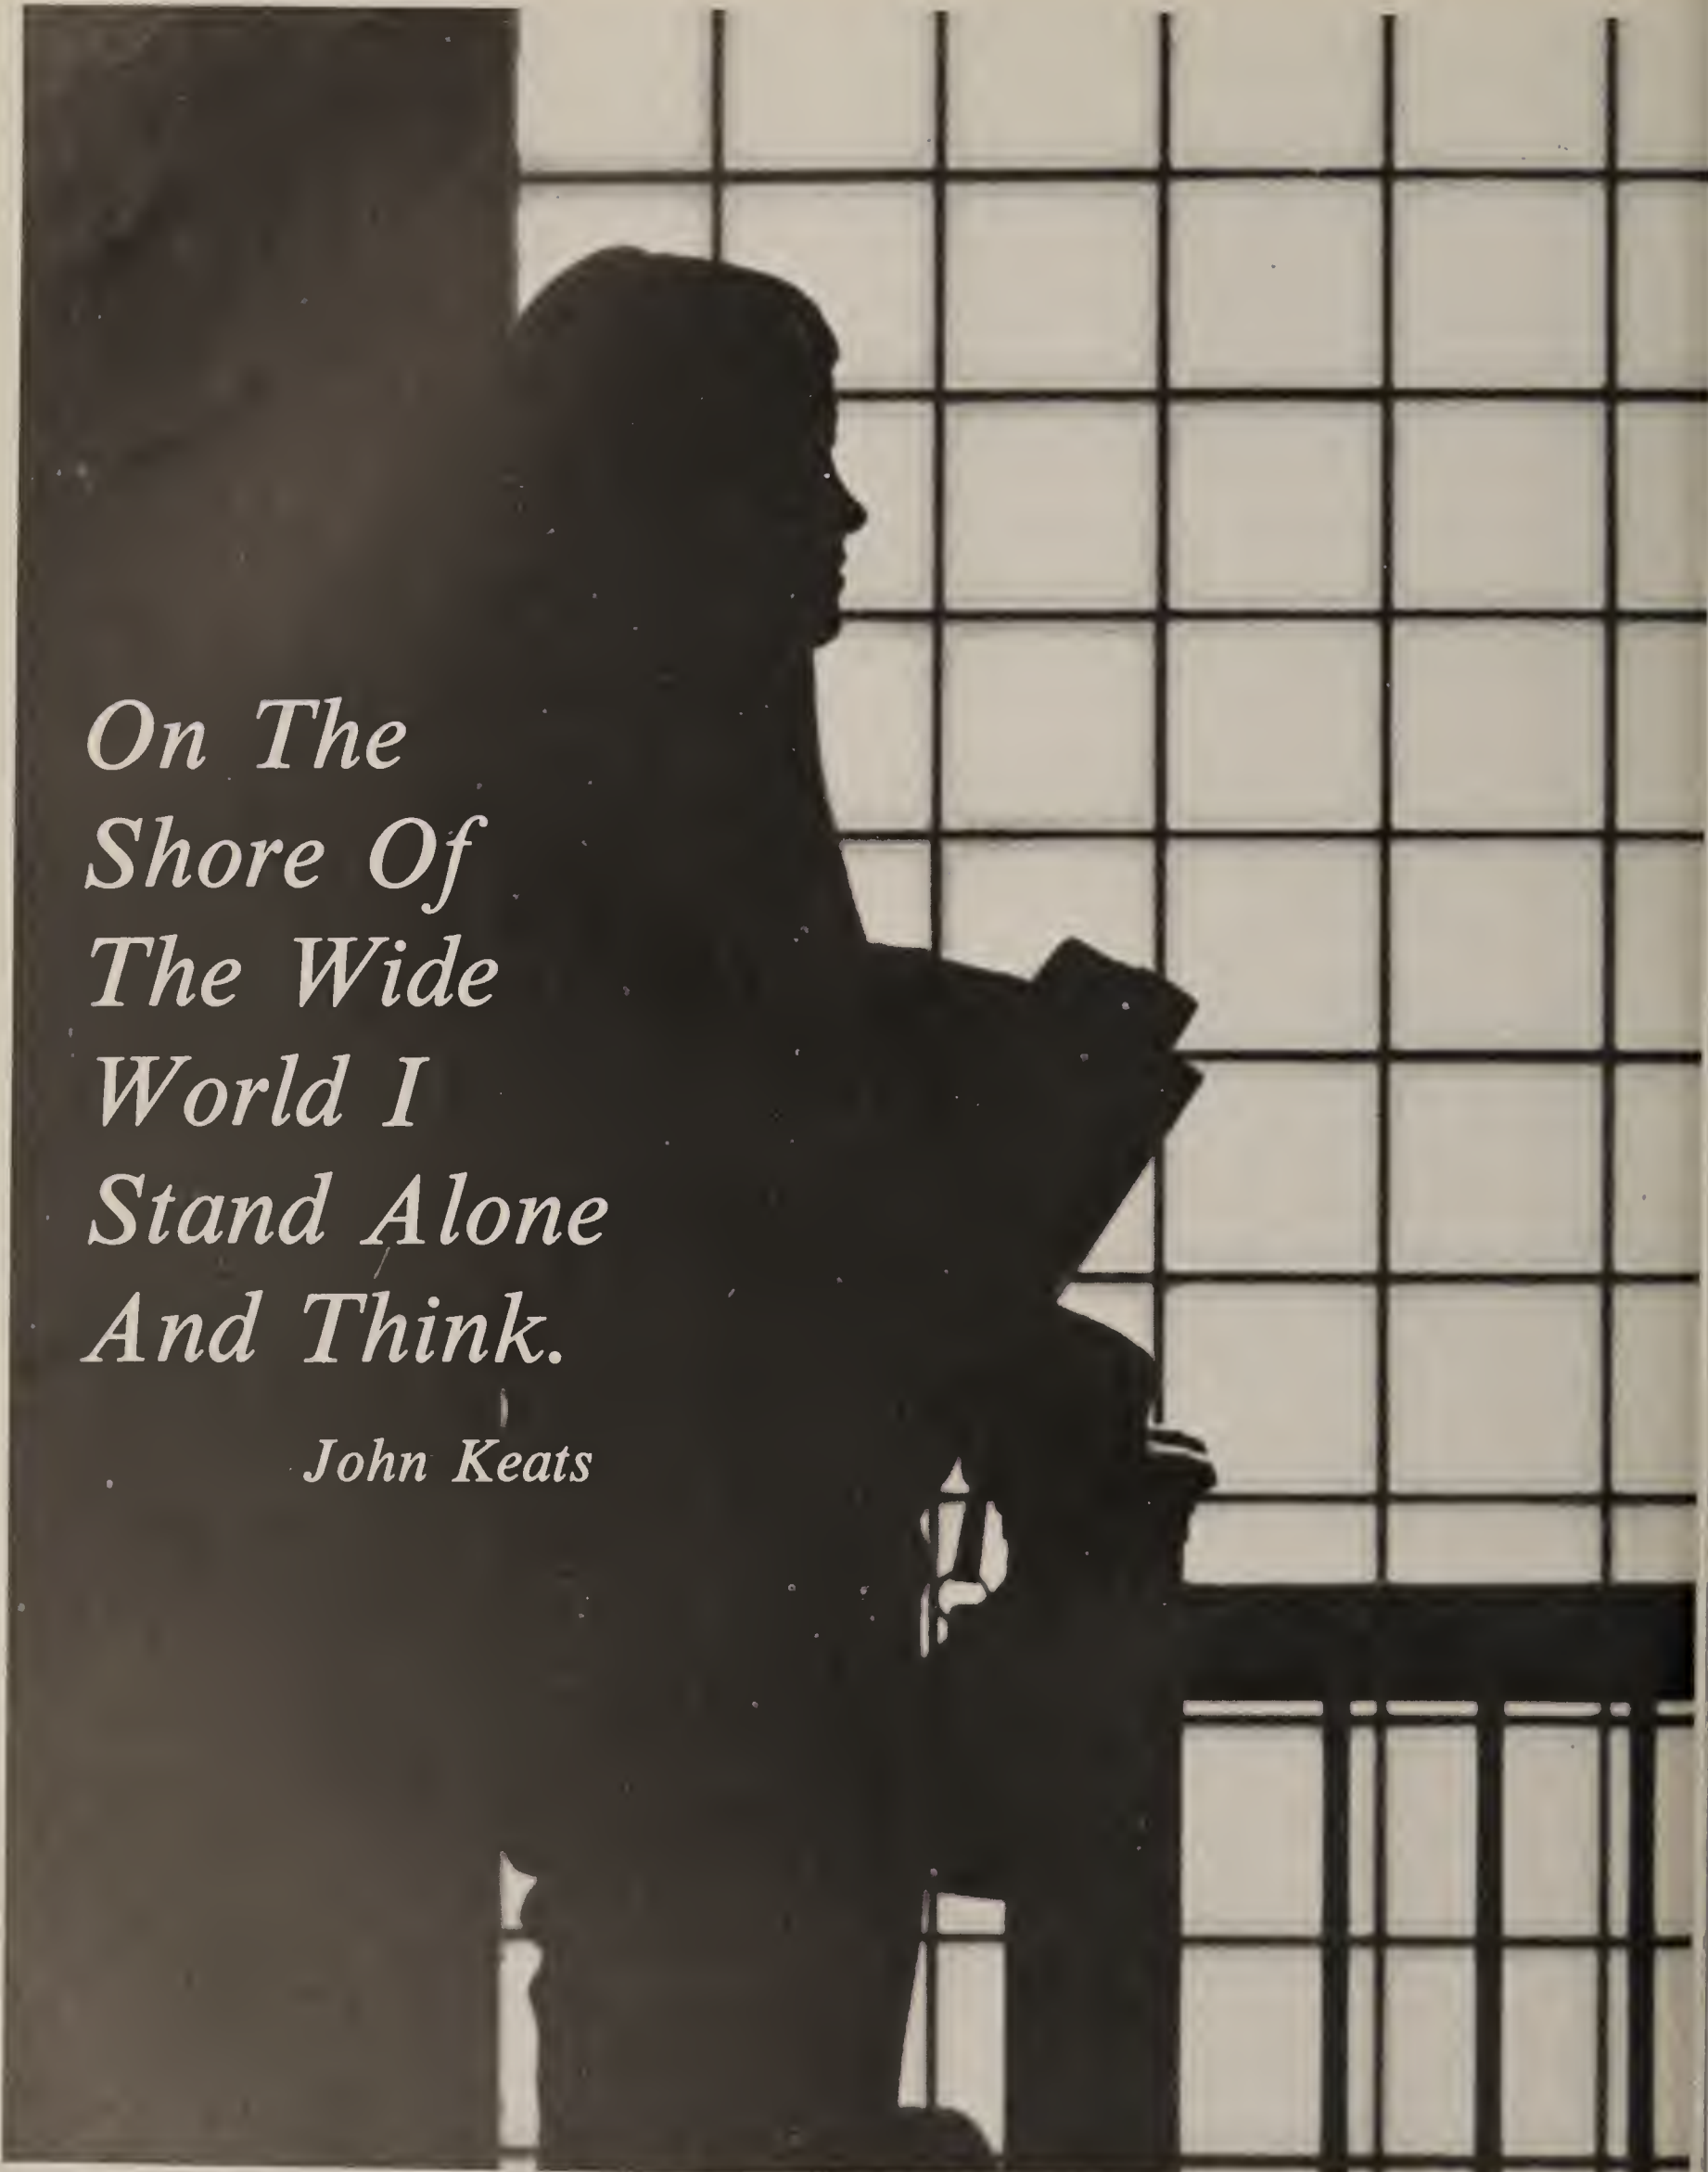

There are people there whom I respect.
And when I'M with them I feel at ease.
But no one would suspect,
They're great because "we're all Portuguese!"

Now there is RAP who is the toughest,
Most dynamic and the roughest.
Then there's ASS who puts you in his media,
With his computerized questions and his encyclopedia.

Then there's CABBY with unusual street machine.
I wish he'd learn to keep the damn thing clean.
Oh Man! who could forget AUNTIE
With his scholarly answers he gives with a snap,
And, oh yeh, his bright RED baseball cap.

Well here they are in all their glory.
And this just about ends my story.
These are the kind of guys who are in the pack.
We are the PROUD and HUMBLE members of the SHACK!

"you shall above all things
be glad and young.
For if you're young,
whatever life you wear
It will become you;
and if you are glad,
Whatever's living
will yourself become."
